

Bio:
Kim Essendrup, Principal

---

Kim Essendrup is the founder and Principal Member Dobré Consulting Services, LLC. His continuing focus is on leveraging technology for organizational excellence, and solid execution through sound project management discipline.

Kim has over 14 years experience developing and delivering business solutions. His delivery experience spans telecommunications, networking, infrastructure, collaboration, process development and business consulting. He has lead international and global business projects across Europe, Asia, and the Americas, as well as several key initiatives for Arizona Native American Tribes.

He has published several articles regarding information security technology, project management, and IT governance, and has spoken at Gaming and Native American conferences on technology.

He currently holds a Project Management Professional (PMP) certification from the Project Management Institute, and is a Certified Information Systems Security Professional with the International Information Systems Security Certification Consortium, (ISC)2.